READ 0098

Attendance (Week 1)

- Explain your attendance policy and the withdrawal/failure consequences if students violate it.

Sequence (Week 1) (Week 8/9)

- READ 0098 → ENGL 1101 (if exited or exempted from LS English)

Withdrawals (Week 1) (Week 4/5)

- If the student is in danger of failing your LS Reading class, he/she may withdraw from it by the midpoint of the semester. However, his/her Financial Aid will be affected (including HOPE), and he/she may have to pay money back. Such a student must see a financial aid advisor to get the details.
- If a student decides to withdraw, his/her GPA will not be affected, and it will not count as an LS attempt
- Withdrawals in any LS course NO LONGER results in automatic withdrawals from any collegiate, effective 09/11/14..
- Remind students about Instructor-initiated withdrawals that result from attendance policy violations.

LS Attempts (Week 1) (Week 4/5) (Week 8/9 emphasize here)

- Any grade in this LS class other than “W” counts as an attempt.
- Passing READ 0098 means a 70% or higher average in the course
- If a student passes READ 0098 with an A, B, or C, he/she is eligible to take English 1101, but only if he/she has also exited or exempted LS English.
- If a student does not pass READ 0098:
  - He/she must change registration as soon as possible (if he/she has already pre-registered for English 1101) and register for READ 0098.
  - If the student does not pass on the second attempt, he/she will be suspended from GPC and all other USG institutions for one year.
- Effective Fall Semester 2013, students are no longer required to take an Exit Exam.
