The Engineering committee met on October 12, 2004 at 4:00 pm on Clarckston campus immediately after the discipline meeting. Members present were Anant Honkan, Ray Colling and Iason Rusodimos.

The committee talked about the charges for this coming year. First, it is time to go through a book search for Statics and Dynamics. Second, assessment on some of the Engineering courses will have to be done.

Also, a project called HP-MESA will start on campus in the Spring 2005. It is out of California, and we were asked to advertise it to students because they may get employment as tutors under this project, as well as the possibility of scholarships they can carry to any University they transfer to.

The meeting adjourned at 4:10 pm. It was decided that Enefiok would be writing the minutes for the remainder of this year.
